Sonville have been working the convicts outside the prison walls, hireing them to who ever would employ them for any purpose, at prices much less than those paid common laborers, thus and working men of the city. The citizens have bjected to this, not only because of the competition, but because of the demoralizing influence has exerted, and because it was calculated to make labor degrading. In a few years past, fifteen or sixteen public meetings have been held change. The last one for this purpose was held weeks ago; and the Prison Superintendeut was informed that if no change was made by the tirst of this month, they would take matters in their own hands. No change having been made, a meeting was held on Monday night, at which it was resolved, should the prisoners be sent out of the prison wall to work again, they would compel them to be taken back. Yesterday morning, they were sent out to work as usual. The tire bells were rang, and a large number of the citizens immediately assembled, and proceeded in the direction of the place where the convicts were employed. The authorities of the prison at once withdrew the prisoners within the walls; and for the present, the people have triumphed. We have heard of no understanding being had between the belligerent parties; and the difficulty may be reopened. The citizens are determined to put an end to the rvil of which they have com-THEATER.-The heavy rain of last night se-

IMPORTANT FROM MEXICO.

The Marine Expedition Judged by an English Merchant in the Capital -Appointment of a Successor to Mr. Mathew-tireal Glee of the Clergy Faction.

dian Insurrections, de.

A friend in this city has kindly permitted us to publish the following interesting private letter from the pen of one of the leading English increhants in the Mexican capital. The source from whence h comes cutifies it to the utnost confidence. We publish it h half as it comest to hand, that the reader may see what is the version of the affair at Auton Lizardo that obtains at the centre.

one Gen. Marin, who was in Havana, for the purchase of some vessels and some munitions of war, to aid Miramon in his attack upon Vera Cruz. The vessels and munitions were purchased, and made their appearance at Anton Lizardo on the 6th inst, and the officers in command were making their arrangements to open communications with Miramon, whose camp was close at tand on shore. The American shop-of-war Saratoga, which was cruising in the waters of Vera Cruz, paid a visit to the vessels of Gen. Marin, and, after signaling, without obtaining any reply, sent a boat off to ascertain the character of the new conters. Sions were fixed upon the boat from the vessels of Marin. I his caused the commander of the Siratoga to give Marin's vessels a broadside, which did such execution as to induce Marin to surrender at once.

Marin's vessels a broadside, which did such exceution as to induce Marin to surrender at once.

After this affair Admiral Pennud, of the French squadron, in the tint'd of Mexico, who was at Vera Cruz, addressed a strong letter in behalf of the captured, to the American commander, who replied by saying he knew his lustiness, and if the Frenchman was as well advised as to his concerus, they would get on well enough together.
There were two vessels taken by the Saratoga, and, according to our last advises from Vera Cruz, were to be sent to New Orleans.

This allair has created a most intense excitement in this city. The government of this caplital are in the greatest rage and tribulation, and it is difficult to say what they may do. Fears are entertained that they may vent their rage in new atrochies upon the American residents, and this fear is made the stronger by the knowledge of the fact that the British covernment have named a minister over Mr. Mathew, and as they suppose this hars been done for consequence of the interest Mr. Mathew has taken in behalf of the unprotected Americans. Their journals have since been filled with the most wholesale abuse of the Americans, and threats of vengeance.

The French Minister, M. de habriac, sends by the mail of to-day, exceedingly strong orders to Admiral Penand instructing him to take part agalust the Americans. It these orders be listened to, it is clear a collision murst at once take place, but it is to be hoped Admiral Penand will follow the example set him last year by Captain Dunlop, in refusing to obey a mad order given by Mr. Otway, our late representative in this country.

The expedition of Marth was declared a pirati-

Dunlop, in refusing to obey a mad order given by Mr. Otway, our late representative in this country.

The expedition of Marln was declared a piratical one by the Government of Vera Crnz, and it is well known here, by advices from Havana, that the rrews and the vessels were all Spaniards, most of them persons who have spent all their lives in the African coast trade, selzing negroes and bringing them to Cuba for a market. But even if the crews were honest men, the expedition altogether cannot relain to be any better than that of Lopez against the feland of Cuba, and tor the first time the Americans have the strongest side of the case with the Spaniards.

By the last mail from Eughand, we learn the appointment of Mr. Wyke as Minister to Mexico. This appointment, at this time, has had a very bad effect upon our luterests here. The clergy regard it as a special victory, and notice it as such in their journals. They think the appointment of a new man over Mr. Mathew's head Implies a disapproval of Mr. washew's conduct, and as Mr. Jeahew has distinguished himself over his predecessors in looking after his own countrymen, and in lending at all times a generous and helping hand to other foreigners who are here without protection, the chergy think this course of conduct meets with disapproval at the Foreign Office. It is possible they may be correct, and if so we unfortunate English residents in Mexico are certainly in as position. The true cases of the appointment of Mr. Wyke over Mr. Mathew, I suspect, has been the cannonions abuse of the latter gentleman by anonymous seribblers in the London journals. It is well known that those communications, if not written, were at least dictated by Mr. Utway, who could not see that his regal from here came from no other cause than his natural hatred for his own countrymen, and his natural hatred for defeat of Miramon before vera Criiz, with the signal for the country to pass into a wilder anarehy than has yet been seen in the history of THE SHOOTING MATCH YESTERDAY .- A shoot ing match between the Washington and West lend Shooting Clubs took place yesterday, at the Cluclumati Trotting Park. Eight birds were allowed to each man, the conditions being 21 yards rise and 100 yards fall. The stakes, we understand, was merely the price of the birds. Follow-ing is the tally sheet:

A man named Wall, who was standing by, made some remark about their conduct, when Douglas jumped out of the buggy and struck him—McCorkle striking Nutton at the same time. Nutton then ran, and they fired at him, the ball taking effect just above the knee. As Nutton was walking along on the Point shortly after the above difficulty, he met Douglas and McCorkle in the buggy. Heard McCorkle say, "Shoot him." He ran, and they fired at him twice, one ball striking him lutthehip. Another witness testified that when the prisoners asked for the buggy, Nutton picked up a brick, and threatened to throw it at them, and it was then they drew their pistols. He also had as lungshot in his hand before they drew their pistols. Security in $200 cach to answer an Indictment.

Fire in the Jersey Pines -- A Fearful Scene.

Fire in the Jersey Pines—A Fenrful Scene.

[From the Mt. Holly Mirror.]

A fire was raging in the pines, in this county, last week, to a fearful extent, and of course doing great damage. It sturied on Wednesday, at tarontown, bedf way between Red Llon and Friendship. Its course was across to ex-sherilf Dobblins' tract, at theirest, from there to Burr's Mill, thence by Prewn's Hill toward Mingen's, in the vicinity of which plee is, was burning on Friday. The extent of its ravages, at that time, was a distance of about six railes in length by three in broadth.

The most of the timber that it pas—I through was of second growth, belowing to General Irlek, John S. Irlek, John Woolston, S. A. Do'sbins, W. H. Irlek, and others.

The lire originated by some men, at Germantown, burning over a lew acress of meadow for the benefit of spring pastare. It being excessively dry and the wind high, as soon as the fire was kindled the flames spread in all directions, and it was impossible to check or control them.

The tire at the last accounts was doing considerable planage, and it is not believed can be fully extinguished while the present dry, windy weather continues.

The Mannahawkin stage, on its way to Mount Holly, on Friday, net with a narrow escape from the fire. The driver, before he was aware of it, found himself almost in the midst of the fames. The great body of the fire, however, seemed to be in advance of him, and he turned round to make good his escape, but he had not proceeded far before the flames checked him in his retreat, and he was oldiged to pursue his journey in another direction.

In a short time he again found himself surrounded by the flames. He saw no other conset to pursue but to go straight ahead, and mering his horses to their ntmost speed, hoyed soon to be free from the devouring element. But when he was surrounded by the greater body of fire andsmoke, his horses became frightened and toppled, and it was impossible to move them.—Here they remained for a minute or two, the fire rearing and cracking Beffigerent Correspondence.

There has been a slight outbreak of chivalry in Indiana. The symptoms are described by the Indianapolis Sentinel as "a highly piquant and helilizerent correspondence between Hou. It is very long and rather duil.— We cannot think of a more inappropriate word to describe it than "piquant." The amount of it is, that at a recent conference of Election Boards in Indianapolis, Mr. Jouathan W. Gordon Tanner that he lied. Mr. J. C. From the testimony taken upon the remains. From the testimony taken upon the inquest it appeared that some time after the departure of her limband, Mrs. M. found herself pregnant, and that she drended the remarks which fire neighbors would make about her having a child while her husband was in the penitentiary. It also appeared that some one or two of her neighbors had advised her of the means requisite to procure an abortion, and that inally, through means must be publication, she had succeeded, and was delivered of a ferus, three and a half months old. Inflammation of the womb set lh, and death speedily followed.

Whilst the sonthwest wing was wrapped in flames, an alarm was raised that a girl was in the burning building. It was soon accretained that Miss Minne Le Compte, a young papil from Canada, was in the building, working desperately to save some of the furniture from the flames. Neither would make promises to men, or States, or sections, for the Presidency; both will go into the contest on their record: and upon that, we are satisfied, and the Convention will see it so, Mr. Guthrie will command a vote which would be given to no other man, North or South. The nomination will be given to the South. This we regard as a fixed fact. Coming from the South, that one of her reliable and acceptable statesmen who will be strongest in the States in the North In which the battle is to be fought, will be chosen to lead our hosts on to victory. Other men may be personally more popular with the great body of politicians in Pennsylvania, New sey, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Indiana, and Maine, than Mr. Guthrie; but, unlike others, the latter has no enemies; and having a record upon which an appeal can be successfully made their personal preferences upon the Conventio at the risk of the defeat of the party.

Mr. Gnthrie is a true and life-long Democrat he is an honest and incorruptible man; he has the confidence of every intelligent gen*leman in America; he has a record upon which every man In the Union who desires the success of the party can unite in supporting him; if nominated, even those who prefer the selection of another con-cede his election; and being thus truly orthodox and unquestionably available, we believe he will be chosen by the convention which meets at Charleston as its candidate for the Presidency.

The Opposition are busy explaining the position occupied by Hon, Henry Clay on the slavery question. The St. Lonis News, Cittcinnatl Gazette, and other leading Black Repub lican papers, claim him as having been oppose to the extension of slavery; and, in the languag of the Gazette, the News has conclusively esta lished that his views were identical with those now held by Bates, as promulged in his late let ter, indentifying himself with the Black Republican party. On the other hand, the Louisvi Journal, which is particularly jealons of the reputation of the "Great Embodiment," in a three column article, "scourges away the Re-publicans who are skulking in the shadow of Mr.

Strange, isn't it, that a man upon whom the eyes of the whole nation were fixed, and who spent the latter part of his life in discussing the subject of slavery, should be misunderstood in regard to it !

Some one in Lexington writes to the New York Journal of Commerce that Breekinridge is old ally the choice of the nearly of Kentuck for the Presidency; that while Guthric, if nonnated, will carry the State, Douglas would do so just as surely; that the leading statesmen of th State are opposed to a "slave code" (as flippan as Seward or lorucy); that if Douglas is not the andidate, Breckluridge will be; that though i is pretty well settled now that no l'resident car be elected a second time; and that If Douglas 1 nominated, he will be heartily supported by the Democracy of Kentucky. None of this needs denial or a response. We refer to it only let th people of Kentucky know the means that are resorted to to promote the interests of some Presidential aspirants and to injure another.

"The council free of the National Democracy were about to be lighted snew at Charleston.— What would be the result he did now kniw. He preferred one of the sons of Kentucky as the national standard bearer. But if men deemed best to nominate the Little Giant, of Linois, while he differed with that distinguished statesman upon the question of Congressional Intervention in the Territories upon the subject of slavery, yet it was, after all, an abstraction. Donglas was scarred all over with wounds, battling for the Democracy and the Union, and if he was the nominee, he would, as an elector for the State of Kentucky, bear his name and banner from the head waters of the Big Sandy to the shore of the Mississippl, carnestly and enthusiastically." "The council fires of the National Democracy

We find the following in some of our e changes, purporting to be an extract from a speech delivered by Hon. G. B. Hodge, one of the Democratic State Electors for Kentucky, at Alexandria. We don't know whether Col-Hodge used any such language or not; but if so, he certainly will deserve great credit for courage and persevering hardihood should he comply with his promise. That's all.

BUCHANAN AND BRECKINRIDGE .- The Rochuster Union says the truth of the following ancedote is satisfactorily vouched for:

dote is satisfactorily vouched for:

A few days sluce several Virginia politicians cailed at the White House, to pay their respects to the President, and in the course of the conversation Mr. B. related the following with great glee: "When Vice President Breckinridge visitted Kentucky last December, for the purpose of making his speech before the Legislature, he met General Lesile Combs, the old Ciay leader of the Whig party, of that State, and addressed him as follows: "Gen. Combs, you have performed longer service, and more valuable service to your party, with less reward, than any living man." To which Gen. Combs promptly replied: "Major Breckinridge, you have performed shorter service and less service for your party, with greater receard, than any living man." Wherenpon they "liquored.""

Mr. Buchanan narrated this story to his friends with great gueto, adding that "many a truth was spoken in jest," and he thought the old General about right in his estimation of the Vice Presi-dent's services.

A SELL.-The New York Leader of Saturday "New Jersey held her State convention on ednesday last, and of the fourteen delegates to the Charleston convention, there is but onc-to-wil, John Huyler—who is opposed to Judge Donglas. Of the remainder, eight are avowedly in favor of the Little Giant; and the other live are friendly to the same candidate, though not so publicly committed in his favor."

Our New York Democratic cotemporary has been hadly sold, if he really thought, when writhing the above, that it was true. Douglas and his friends were hooted at by the late Democratic convention of this State, and, of the gentlemen appointed, not a single one of them has, or will, openly express his preferences for Douglas.—Trenten State Gazette. The letter in another column, in response to the Statesman, is from the pen of one of the noblest men in the State, a life-long and leftueutial Democrat, and who, as a member of the last Legislature, voted against the bill to increase salaries of State officers, for the Comme cial Bank bill, and opposed the milltia law.

The Cincinnati Commercial, a Republican paper, makes the following significant acknowledgment as to the great strength of Mr.

The friends of Mr. Guthrie, of Kentucky, w.li press his claims who much careetness. They regard him, and we think truly as the available man of the Democratic party. a Member of the Legislature Thinks About it.

They were influenced by a sense of duty to their party, and by the convictions of their own judgment; and such attacks will fall harmless at their feet.

The next number of the Statesman had another article, on the same subject, in which it was asserted that the salaries of public offeers are too low, which is a sufficient reason for raising them; that it was not its purpose to impuire why the Opposition majority in past Legislatures neglected their duty to raise them; and that it is known that propositions to increase them take received the support of the high minded men of both parties, and were defeated, as at the last session, by a preponderance of members who go to the Legislature with their cars closed and their cyas shut to lasts and arguments; and the people are recommended to keep such at home and save to the State their per diem.

I would like to know when this high salary fever struck this pure and high minded portion of the Democratic paers, to support which I have spent hundreds of dollars, and until the present I have not seen an increase of salaries advocated in any of them. I have been a subscriberto the Statesman ever since the appearance of the first number of them. I have seen a line in favor of increase of salaries, until in the article abusing members of the last Legislature. I have forgotten it. I will not pretend to say whether salaries are high enough, or not, but it has been but a short time since candidates were to be select d far these offices, and we all know the party was embarrassed by the number of asjerants for nominations no one of whom intimated that if nonsinated and elected he would not accept the office unless his salary was increased. On the contrary, they were all anxious to secure the nomination and get the office, with the present salary annexed. During the canvass, in which I took an actlye part, in my own and the adjoining counties, I heard no word from any Democrat in favor of hetter pay to the public sevants. Yet those who voted against an act for which the party wou

In conclusion, I will say to the Statesman, at J have no ill feeling towards any Democrat ho tilliered from me, recegnizing the right of to think for themselves, and shall not say at those who did so ditler disgrace their party.

The Prince of Wales Advised to Visit the United States. The London Times of the 20th ult., after disassing the contemplated visit of the Prince of Vales to Canada, savs:

Wales to Canada, says:

It would be a matter of regret if the Prince of Wales, satisfied with the homage of the Canadans, should neglect to visit the Republic Which now plays so great a part in the world. We do not, of course, unticipate in any case that the Prince would return to England without having set fout an the United states territory; but there are different ways of visiting a country, and as none repays attentive observation more than the American Republic, so none is likely to be so illumderstood by a mere flying tourist. American is not a country of muscular and palaces, to be "done" in so many days with Marray's Handbook. Its interests consists in its people, in the plasses of civilization through which they display, in their energy and rest-bessness, their greatness and their weaknesses. Although we cannot expect that a youth in his Aittough we cannot expect that a youth in his altereast year should be able to appreciate the American Commonwealth, yet we led sure thu a journey through the United States, and some association with the people, would not be lost labor. On a kind and courteous reception the son of Queen Viccoria may be very sure. The interest of Americans in the descendants of the former ruler of their country, is second only to that of Englishmen themselves, and, whatever may have been formerly the case, the feeling is now one of good will and sympathy. The Prince of Wales might find both instruction and recreation in a visit to the Atlantic cities, whether he New York in all its ambitious and span new splendar, or its more quiet rivals.

be New York in all its ambitious and span new spleuder, or its more quiet rivals.

There is much to be l'arned from a few weeks of such travel—more than a Royal personage may ever afterwards have an opportunity of learning. One who is called to such high distincts, and who will have such opportunities of directing the tastes of his countrymen, may advantageously study the progress in the arts of life by a people thrown, as it were hut yesterday, on the shores of a new continent, a progress and tess wonderful than their commercial prosperity. If the Prince of Wales should further visit the President of the United States at Washington, the countersy will, we feel sure, be apprecison, the courtesy will, we feel sure, be apprecia-ed, and tend to draw closer the honds which Anstria--The State of Hungary.

Vienna, Friday, March 16.

The Weiner Zeiting gives the following account of a political demonstration which was yesterday made at Pesth:

"According to advices from Pesth, about 200 students, who had in vain attempted to force their way into several of the churches during the morning of the 15th of March, went to the cemetry in the Franzenstadt. The crowd was desired quietly to disperse, but, as no attention was paid to the official summons, the police, in order to prevent further excesses, was obliged to arrest several persons.

"In consequence of this measure, the crowd began to move towards the Kerepesch Cemetery, and as the employees of the police sought to prevent its effecting its purposes, the officer of police and his men were devided, (verhabit.) This modulet rendered further arrests indispensable, and the police were at last obliged to make use of their arms, as an attack was made upon them, with an intent to liberate the prisoners.—Unfortunately, some persons were wounded.

"The inabitants of Pesth had nothing whatever to do with the affair, and as the peace of the city was in no other way disturhed, the soldiers and the police were able completely, and without other assistance, to enforce the law. In the evening, the students tried to keep the public from entering the National Theater, and the Interierence of the authorities and monnted police proving ineffectual, a "division" (two companies) of regular troops was called out, which cleared the place. The peace of the city was not again disturhed."

By private advices from the Hungarian capital, we learn that the crowd was composed of gain disturbed."

By private advices from the Hungarian capiali, we learn that the crowd was composed of bont 560 students, four of whom were woundd. It is here supposed that the young mentihed to celebrate the anniversary of the day n which, in the year 1848, the cx-Emperor Ferimand L. expressed bit, results to great the wished to celebrate the anniversary of the day on which, in the year 1848, the ex-Emperor Ferdinand I, expressed his resolve to grant a constitution to his subjects. A Hungarian, who must be well acquainted with the opinions and institutions of his fellow-countrymen, has today expressed to me his apprehensions for the future of the Austrian Empire. Nothing but the restoration of their constitution will satisfy the Hungarian nution; and there is great reason to fear that many influential Mugyurs now aim at a complete separation of Hungary from the Empire. "If the Hungarian Diet should meet to-unorrow," said my interhentor, "its first measure would be publicly to declare that the Kingdom of Hungary was not responsible for any part of the Austriau national delt, which was contracted without its cognizance and approval." The separation of Hungary from Austria would probably he fatal to both countries; but the Imperial Government cannot be of the opinion, as it rurely or never neglects an opportunity of widening the breach between them. The domicilary visit recently paid to Count Stephen Szecheny has given such extreme offense to the Hungarians that they now pass the Archduke Albrecht, who was the author of the lajndicions measure, without taking the least notice of futu.

The remarkable feat of reducing to six days the prinarkable feat of reducing to she days the period required for communicating be tween London and Calcutta has been accomplished. The first private telegram between India and England, via the Red Sea, was received at Lloyd's, dated Calcutta, the 10th of March. It reports as follows: "Ship Red Gauntlet, bound to London, burnt and sentified. Some cargo will be saved."

Such was the sunstaince, if not the exact words, of a statement made by a man to Judge Cradle-bangh, in my presence, who, at the same time, confessed that he participated in the horrible events which he related. He also gave Judge C, the mannes of 25 or 20 other men living in the region, who assisted in the massacre. He offered also to make the same statement in court and under oath, if protection was guaranteed to him. The Mountain Meadow Massacre—Hor-rible Confession.

The Salt Lake Valley Tan, of February 20th, entains a statement from Win. II. Rogers, in regard to the massacre at Mountain Meadows, in ptember, 1857, when 120 men, women, and children, emigrants from Arkansas, were mur-dered by Mormons. In company with Dr. For-uey, Superintendent of Iudian Affairs for Utah Territory, Mr. Rogers, about a year since, traversed the district of country where the massacre occurred. The scene of the tragedy is sacre occurred. The secuc of the tragedy is thus described:

When we arrived here in April, 1859, more than a year and a half after the massacre occurred, the ground, for a distance more than a hundred yards around a central point, was covered with the skeletons and bones of human beings, interspersed in places with rolls or bunches of traged or matted hair, which, from its length, evidently belonged to females. In places the bones of small children were lying side by side with those of grown persons, as if parent and child had met death at the same instant and with the same stroke. Small bonuchs and dresses, and craps of female appared were also to be seen in places who wore them, bleached from long exposure, but their shape was, in many instances, after. In a guleh or hole in the ravine by the side of the road, a large number of leg and arm bones, and also of skulls, could be seen sticking shout the surface, as if they had been buried here, but the action of water and digging of wolves had again exposed them to sight. The entire scene was one too horrible and sickening or language adequately to describe.

On the authority of information communicated

On the authority of information communicated cipant lu the massacre, Mr. Rogers describes ne attack on the entigrants, the protracted siege which they endured, and finally the treacheron artifice by which they were induced to surrener-when all were brutally murdered. He says As soon as It became known that Judge C. In As soon as it became known that Juage C. In-tended holding a court, and investigating the circumstances of the massacre, and that he wend have troops to insure protection and en-force his writs if necessary, several persons vis-ited him at his rooms, at late hours of the night, and informed him of different facts connected with the massacre. All these that called thus, stated that it would be at the risk of their lives if thecame known that they had communicated if it became known that they had communicated anything to him; and they requested Judge Cradlebaugh, if he met them in public in the day time, not to recognize them as persons that he

if it became known that they had communicated anything to him; and they requested Judge Cradlebaugh, if he met them in public in the day time, not to recognize them as persons that he had before seen.

One of the men who called thus on Judge Cradlebaugh, confuseed that he participated in the massacre, and gave the following account of it—Provious to the massacre there was a council held at Cedar City, which President Halght and Bishops highly and Leed attended. At this conneil they designated or uppointed a large number of men residing lu Cedar City, and in other settlements around, to perform the work of dispatching these enigrants. The men appointed for this purpose were instructed to resort, well armed, at a given time, to a spring or small stream, lying at a short distance to the left of the road leading into the Meadows, and not very far from Hambliu's ranch, but concealed from it by the evening hills. This was the place of rendezvous; and here the men, when they arrived, painted and otherwise disguised themselves so as to resemble Indians. From thence they proceeded, early on Monday morning, by a path or trail which leads from his spring directly into the Meadows, and enters the road some distance beyond Hamblin's ranch. By taking this route they could not be seen by any one at the ranch. On arriving at the corral of the emigrants, a number of the men were standing on the ontside by the caunp fires, which, from appearances, they had just been building. These were first fired upon, and at the first discharge several of them inmediately ran to the inside of the corral, and began fortifying thenselves, and preparing for delense as well as they could, by shoving their wagons closer together and digring holes had which to lower them, so as to keep the shots from going under and striking them. The attack continned in a desultory and irregular manner for four or five days. The corral was closely watched, and if any of the enligrants showed the uselves they were lustantly lired at from whinest. If they attempted

NOTICE TO THE LADIES! AD. 122 POURTH STHEET, but if they went out with their arms the Indians would lock tryon it as an unfriendly act, and would again attack them. The emigrants, trusting to Lee's honor and to the sincerity of his statement, consented to the terms which he proposed, and left their property and all their arms at the corral, and, under the escort of Lee and his party, started towards the North luthe direction of Cedar City. After they had proceeded about a nuite on their way, on a signal given by Bishop Highy, who was one of the party that went to the corral with Lee, the slaughter began. MADAME TRANTER

Forging a Lottery Phize List.—One of our citizens came near being "taken in and done for," a few days ago, by a couple of strangers, to the tune of about four thousand dollars, by an ingenious device for the collection of prize money on a ticket, which was thought to have been on the lucky list.

The two men went to John J. Lazo some days ago, and bought a ticket in the Havana Lottery, one of them leaving the city soon after. Not many days had passed before Mr. Lazo received by mail what purported to be an "official report of the drawing of the 22d," upon which appeared the leket sold to the two strangers.

In a little while after, the holder of the ticket came in, and presented his ticket to be cashed. Mr. Laxo not having a sufficient amount of money at hand to discount the ticket, went with the stranger to see a friend, that they might take it in copartnership; but the friend, being better posted in the sailings of the Havana steamers, thought the news had got here rather early, and suggesting that there might be some mistake, projosed to telegraph to New Oricans, recommending to the ticket-holder that he indibetter call again in the evening. The ticket-holder was willing to this, but wanted to leave before evening, and therefore objected to any delay. Finding, he went off, and has not been seen since. And all in Want of Good Lubricating Oil, Which for Economy and Cheapness has no rival in

In the meantime, the message of inculry was forwarded to New Orleans, and before hight an answer received, stating that the prize list was a orgeny, as no vessel had yet arrived from liana.—Mobile Adv. A REVEREND DEPAULTER—THE HEAD OF A COLLEGATE INSTITUTION RINS AWAY WITH ITS FUNDS.—The mere lact of the suspicious absence of Rev. Clemon Frachou, Principal of the Cathelic Institution at Sandwich, C. W., known as L'Assuntion College, reached us several days since, but in order to obtain the full particulars of the affair, and to avoid originating a groundless rumor, we have withheld the information until the unatter could be investigated. It is now settled beyond a doubt that this judividual has betrayed the trusts reposed in him by the church of his choice, and has absconded with whatever of the funds of the histitution over which he presided he could by his hands on. He left Sandwich on last Monday evening, somewhat singularly, but without exciting any suspicion, and was not heard from until Wednesday, when Bishop Pinsshnault received a note troin him purporting to be written in Louisville, Ky., in which he influncted that he deemed it advisable to take a silent and lasting farewell of Sandwich, to expedite which operation he had draw upon the deposits of the college to the ulmost extent they would admit of. The date of the letter was evidently a sham, and there is no reasonable ground to suppose that the fugitive is within a thousand miles of Louisville. In fact, the autorities of the college are wholly baffled, and can discover no trace whatever to Indeate the course he has taken.—Detroit Free Press.

likely talend to a concentration of power in the hands of the Presidents—dangerous to the rights of a free people.

Mr. Houston said that Mr. Taylor and himself were the majority of the Judiciary Committee, but for want of time they had not been able to get together to agree upon a joint resolution.—Each of them, however, had prepared a separate report, both agreeing on general principles and sustaining the President's Acessage.

Mr. Houston's views were read. The framers of the Constitution thought to contine each Desartment within its proper limits, so that one night not encroach upon the other, and thus disjure the equilibrium; therefore the Honse of Espressnatives should confine its action to the limitations and requirements of the Constitution. It was alike due to justice und the character of our troverment at home and abroad, that a should not be perverted for the oppression of redividuals, for mere party advantage, by hoves—gation into vague and stremnons imputations, benneded on the street rumors and newspaper arities.
